SMOG KILLS—That's what the words on the masks say. These SJS students demonstrate their attitude toward air pollution in anticipation of next week's Survival Faire. The week-long event will feature speakers, panels, a "hunger diet" in the cafeteria, and other events centered on the environmental crisis. Survival Faire buttons are on sale now in the College Union.

Plans for Survival Faire Shift Into High Gear as Opening Nears

By CRAIG TURNER
Daily Assistant Editor

Organizers for Survival Faire have shifted into high gear as the Monday opening date draws nearer.

Most panels, workshops, and speakers have been confirmed and the concentration at Survival Faire headquarters is moving to a massive public relations landslide for the opening.

Buttons bearing the Faire's symbol, the earth caught in a vise, and shares in the 1970 automobile that will be buried in front of Tower Hall Friday are on sale at the College Union. Ten cents buys the button, and a one dollar donation gives one share of the car.

The week-long program, emphasizing the gravity of environmental problems, has attracted national attention, and representatives of the three major television networks, and several eastern newspapers will cover it.

Events are scheduled from 9:30 a.m. until past 10 p.m., Monday through Friday of next week. Two panels featuring prominent ecologists and conservationists will highlight each day, Monday through Thursday. Workshops will conclude each day's activities.

Continuing throughout the week will be a film festival and a "hunger diet," available in the cafeteria. The latter consists of a bowl of brown rice and a cup of tea. It will serve to dramatize the typical meal of some two-thirds of the world's people.

A.S. Judiciary To Discuss SDS Fate Tomorrow Night

The fate of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) may be deliberated tomorrow if the Associated Students (A.S.) Judiciary meets at 7 p.m. in the council chambers of the College Union.

A.S. Judiciary was scheduled to meet Monday but was postponed when they failed to reach a quorum. The meeting was tentatively scheduled for Thursday night.

SDS is appealing a decision made last semester by the Student Activities Board (SAB). The SAB authorized the SDS to exist only as an authorized student organization and to pass out literature in its own name. The SDS is restricted from exercising all other privileges granted a recognized campus organization for 10 months.

In June of last year, the SDS was found guilty of "disorderly and unethical conduct, and of misuse of state property." The vote was 4-2. The SAB also, unanimously, found the group in violation of the SJS Statement of Student Rights and Responsibilities.

The action to restrict the organization came as the result of the SDS participation in an unauthorized demonstration at MacQuarrie Hall during Police Week in May of last year. SDS set up a picture board next to Police Week tables at the MacQuarrie Hall quad.

Appeal of the decision to restrict the group was made on a procedural violation charge by SDS. The SDS claims that the decision was released to newspapers (San Jose Mercury and San Francisco Chronicle) before the final decision was reached by Dr. William J. Dusel, executive vice-president.

In earlier testimony before the A.S.

Some 50 films have been entered in the festival according to Pete Ellis, Faire director.

The climax of the Faire will be Friday when the new automobile will be buried. All students and members of the college community are being urged to ride a bicycle to school that day.

Survival Faire is a project of SJS Humanities 160 class, and is administered and organized by students.

Will CUBG Change Rules For Dances?

The College Union Board of Governors (CUBG) is considering a policy change concerning the admission of persons under 18 years old to dances held in the College Union.

In its meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Pacheco Room of the Student Union, the CUBG will discuss a motion to exclude 18-year-old non-students from all dances held in the Union.

The motion, which was moved and tabled in the last CUBG meeting, is similar to the policy adopted by the College Union Program Board, which no longer admits non-students under 18 to its dances.

During tomorrow's meeting the CUBG is inviting interested groups and organizations to present their views concerning the proposed policy change. In the past, according to College Union Director Ron Barrett, several organizations have depended upon the attendance of high school students for the success of their dances.

The College Union games area no longer admits persons under 18 unless accompanied by an adult or San Jose State student.

Intercultural Party

Foreign and American students are invited to a party at college Intercultural Center's new location, 292 So. 9th St. The party celebrates the spring opening of the Intercultural Center, will provide a chance for students, new and old, to get acquainted, dance and have fun together. The Intercultural Steering Committee is sponsoring the event which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

American Civil Liberties Union Contacted To Aid GLF Cause

By ELLEN BEVIER
Daily Investigative Reporter

The Gay Liberation Front will take its case for official college recognition to the next meeting of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

In anticipation of Friday's statement by Acting President Robert Burns denying the group recognition, the GLF appeared before an earlier ACLU meeting.

The group, concerned with the problems of homosexuals, was told to return to the ACLU if its request was denied, according to GLF representative Pat Jackson.

In his statement, Dr. Burns said that official recognition could not be granted.

"I cannot commit the resources and reputation of San Jose State College to sponsor activities of doubtful academic benefit and certain public discredit," he explained.

The group's objectives are to communicate "through all of the educational processes, both to the gay and straight communities, as to what are the myths and realities of homosexual life."

"The academic community must realize the intelligence of students and take advantage of student awareness to make colleges and universities relevant sources of education," commented Miss Jackson.

"The GLF is just part of the total liberation thing going on. How can you refuse to recognize something so obviously there?"

A report prepared by the General Counsel for the College Trustees states that "Valid distinctions can be made on the basis of homosexuality . . . the college president is certainly entitled to decide that a homosexual club, while perhaps a pioneering idea on the college scene, is not an endeavor in which he should invest the college resources."

The General Counsel's office concluded that the issue was not whether a "homosexual club may exist off the campus as a non-recognized student association, nor whether a student who is a homosexual can be prevented from attending the college or even being employed by it.

"Instead, the question is simply whether San Jose State College may lawfully exercise its discretion to deny campus recognition to the San Jose Gay Liberation Front. In our opinion, it may do so."

The GLF's request came to Dr. Burns after the Associated Students Student Council voted unanimously to grant the controversial group organization status.

The GLF representative raised the possibility that by refusing the group's request a precedent might have been established in regard to other student originated ideas.

"It's not just putting down the GLF.

Ad Hoc Committee Questions Interviews

An open invitation has been extended by the Presidential Ad Hoc Committee to faculty and students to express themselves regarding the question of on-campus interviewing. Committee Chairman C. Dean Newnan of the School of Engineering, yesterday stated that the purpose of the committee appointed by President Burns is to consider the broad question of interviews by employers on the campus.

"In order to introduce opinions and thoughts of interested members of the college community into this committee's considerations, position papers, both pro and con, are invited from any interested student or faculty member," said Prof. Newnan. These statements can be submitted for consideration at any time prior to Feb. 20 and should be addressed to Prof. Newnan, E 139.

This committee of faculty and students has been requested by the president of the college to consider the broad question of on-campus interviewing and recruiting by government, education and industry.

No Daily Tomorrow

Due to the pressures of the first week of classes, there will be no Spartan Daily published tomorrow. On Friday, the regular daily schedule will be resumed.

Probationary Students Get A Reprieve

Those students who thought they might be placed on probation or disqualified, after a less than successful fall semester, but found themselves in good academic standing, are not yet out of the water.

Students will be placed on probation and perhaps disqualified but not until the semester has begun.

Caught up in the wave of troubles that resulted from the failings of computer registration, the registrars' office was simply not able to get grades processed in time to determine the academic status of individual students.

However, as soon as grades are adequately processed those students who are found to be below SJS academic standards will be individually counseled in order to determine what is best for the student.

If it appears that a student will be able to meet the academic requirements by the end of the spring semester he will be allowed to stay, but if improvement is unlikely the student could be advised to leave the school.

Two S.F. Groups Perform Sat. Night

A. B. Skhy and Robert Savage Group together with Mu Lights will explode with good vibes Saturday, Feb. 14 in the College Union Ballroom. Favorably commented upon by Ralph Gleason, the two San Francisco groups will do their thing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Admission is $1 for students, and $2 for non-students. No one under 18 will be admitted.

Some Classes Still Open

GLF Decision Unfair

Not surprisingly, the college administration has decided against recognizing the Gay Liberation Front. The decision was announced by Acting President Dr. Hobert Burns, but it is doubtful that it was his decision alone.

Most likely, it was dictated to him by the chancellor and the trustees.

While recognizing the GLF would hardly have improved SJS' public image, this is not a strong enough reason to deny recognition.

The Daily believes that the college should recognize all organizations that work within the law.

The report of the chancellor's legal staff contains no reference to any laws that the GLF might break, although it does list the laws under which individual homosexuals are prosecuted (sodomy, disorderly conduct, etc.).

The five-page opinion is devoted to a discussion of the right of the president to deny recognition to any organization for any "rational" reason.

The report, however, gives no credible basis for denying this particular organization.

Evidence points to the fact that the legal memo is irrelevant. The decision was much, much earlier, at a higher level.

The infantile reactions of Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Max Rafferty and Trustee Dudley Swim were the first clue.

But the clincher is that the legal memo is dated Jan. 13, while Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, during a Dec. 8 visit to SJS, unequivocally stated that there would be no GLF on any state college campus.

The legal staff was pre-empted.

Dr. Burns had no choice.

Recognition of GLF would not have been the popular thing to do, but it would have been the fair thing.

Denial of that recognition is one more example of a Board of Trustees, prompted by the Reagan administration, that puts political expediency above honesty.

Less Scars From SCARS

If last week's registration proved anything, it proved that computer registration just wasn't that bad.

Our "orderly" operation this semester, with organized lines and numerous registration monitors, probably was as well-directed as possible in a large institution. (We've certainly had enough practice!)

Yet the crucial aspect of registration — actually getting needed classes, arranged in a workable schedule — is little more than a cruel joke for a majority of the student body. The situation seems to get worse each semester, as more and more students find themselves taking classes they don't want or need, or failing to obtain classes needed for major and minor requirements.

If education is really important — and it seems as though that's what it's all about — then it is imperative that a more workable registration procedure be instituted as soon as possible.

Last semester's computer registration, despite all the problems, was a step in the right direction. Unfortunately, this semester's "manual mess" was two steps backward.

Opposition to Faire?

Survival Faire is growing to become a vast and exciting happening — far beyond its creators' wildest dreams. It undoubtedly will be a huge success.

As with all ventures that gain in dimension — as well as in public acceptance — Survival Faire has come under attack by various publicity seeking elements within the community.

It was inevitable, as the Faire gained increasing support from "establishment" as well as "non-establishment" sources, that one of these elements would be SDS.

In its usual incoherent, cliché ridden rhetoric, Students for a Democratic Society has promised to "expose" Survival Faire. Exactly what SDS plans to expose is predictably unclear.

What is clear, however, is that SDS is again taking the anti-anti position in its apparently unending quest for absolute negativism as a goal and an end.

One happy point: In addition to numerous activities of constructive involvement, students may now demonstrate against the SDS by supporting the Faire.

Women: The Weaker Sex?

By MARY DOUGHERTY

Women, often termed the weaker sex, are not all that weak.

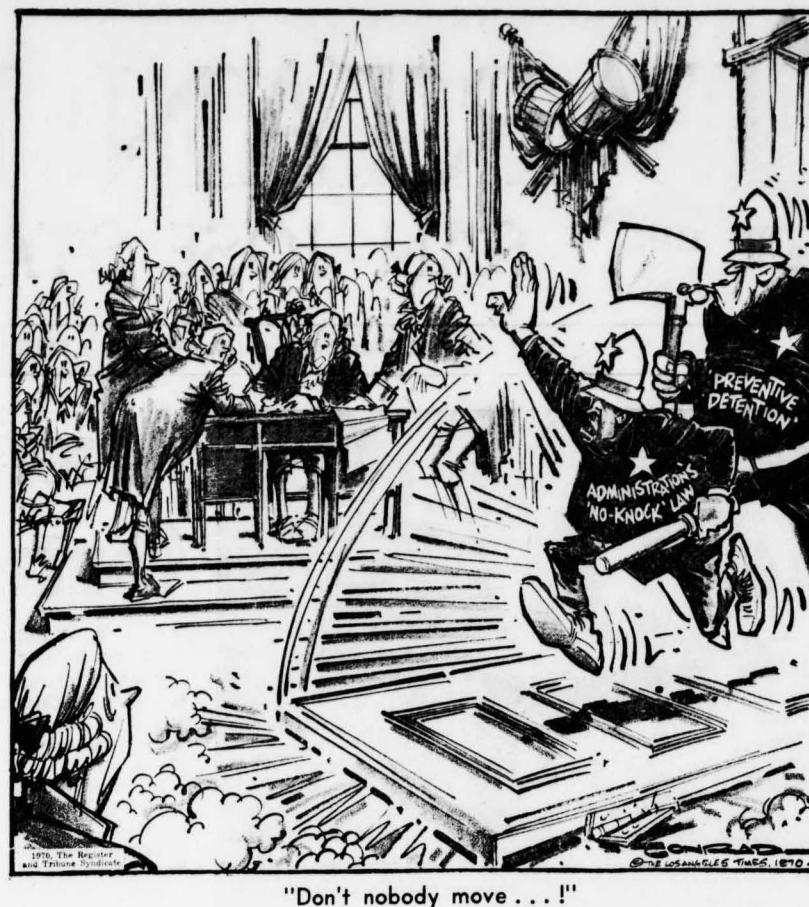

Biologically there is no equality. It is plain that woman is the better endowed sex. Women have a greater life expectancy. More men than women are victims of cancer, tuberculosis and insanity; women are both physically and mentally the more stable.

Yet women still demand more equality before they "can begin to live and love as human beings."

Au contraire! Women never had it so good. Women are not hampered by military service, even though there is no reason why they shouldn't perform some public service for the benefit of the whole community. There is no valid reason why husbands should be responsible for their wives' income tax or be imprisoned for their debts.

As women can now sue equally with men for divorce, there seems to be no grounds remaining why a rich wife should not pay alimony to a former husband. Women, but not men, can sue for breach of promise. Divorced husbands are often given the guardianship, but refused the custody, of their children, even when the wife is the guilty party. Women, though not men, may in many cases achieve dual nationality by marriage with a foreigner. No married woman is legally responsible for her husband's support.

The weaker sex obviously is getting stronger — so much stronger that they may take over. Is it too late to heed the warning of Cato, the Censor (215 BC), when he said, "Suffer women to arrive at an equality with you and they will from that moment become your superior."

Review—'Sickening'

Editor:

Miss Vicki Randall's review of "The Arrangement" was the most sickening and blinded review of a movie that has ever filled up space in your newspaper. Eddie Anderson's attempts to free himself from societal values that aim at money and more money, for the sake of money, regardless of the means of deception used (such as advertising) — and find his own values freely chosen by him, and not introjected — is the theme of the movie. If his methods of discovery seem "unorthodox" to Miss Randall, then an answer to her would be that every person needs to find his own way of discovering himself. Since each person is unique, it follows that the methods themselves will have to be individually tailored. Anderson experiences his insight about the shell-like emptiness of his life through Gwen, and through sex. His sexual desires were aimed at Gwen only — she was the special person who gave what meaning he found in life the energy and beauty; and the realization of the absurdity of his profession.

Eddie fakes a nervous breakdown; and, unfortunately, Miss Randall was deceived as Eddie's family and co-workers were. When Eddie lost Gwen through wanting to keep both worlds — his money, and Gwen — he was no longer able to create with what energy he possessed; and he then turned to destruction, which was the only way he could give vent to his hostility towards his work and wife. The burning of his old family house was a symbolic act of remembering his past — through the brilliant use of flashbacks and then forgetting it, so as to progress towards new possibilities — ones that were blocked in the past.

If there was more room, I could go on; but this would be unnecessary. The reader may now find his own interpretation of the movie: hopefully I have helped to open up a new possibility for finding what is the message of the film; but that is up to you to decide, not Miss Randall.

Incidentally, "Antonopoulos or some such long name," is the name of the deaf-mute in "The Heart is the Lonely Hunter."

Grape Boycott—'Wrong'

Editor:

Your editorial of Jan. 9 on the grape boycott makes the point that we all have to eat, but it misses the point that devices like the boycott constitute a threat to this very basic need.

The boycott is an interference with the free flow of food from the farm to the consumer, the dangers of which are often unrecognized because Americans have never before experienced a disruption in their food supply. We complacently ignore this threat because we feel it cannot happen here.

Even if the boycott were in a good cause, it still would be wrong. But it is not in a good cause. It is an attempt to make the grocery store or the housewife judge and jury to a quarrel to which they are not a party and on which they do not have the facts.

The boycott came about because the farm

REPORT: JAMES EDWARDS

A.S. PRESIDENT

Have you heard these allegations before? 1) San Jose State isn't ready for a Black A.S. President. 2) An irresponsible minority is going to take over student government and use it for E.O.P. programs. 3) If James Edwards is student body president he will destroy the Greek system. 4) Edwards would not be able to maintain communication with Gov. Reagan, White students and the SJS administration.

Students who followed last November's Associated Students' presidential elections are aware these are the allegations my opponents made toward my candidacy. I have seen them before. This is the exact position many Blacks are forced into when trying to get into positions of power by which they can change things. There is a paranoia in this society — and among even "open minded liberal" college students — that tokenistic positions are OK as long as they are not in positions of any real power.

The thing about the allegations my opponents made against me during the campaign in November is that they were never founded on factual grounds. Instead, they were formed from individual prejudices, similar to the political statements and prejudices of politicians like Sam Yorty and Ronald Reagan. Such statements are used in appealing to the irrational phobias and fears of Whites.

All of my opponents' charges against me have since been proved false. The vast amount of student funds this year have gone into a great number of various activities.

Every allegation made against me has proved out so far to be lies, as has been the case of most allegations made in regard to the efforts of minorities to take a constructive part in the shaping and formation of this society.

President Richard M. Nixon has nominated G. Harrold Carswell for the Supreme Court seat vacated by Abe Fortas' resignation.

With this nomination, Nixon will probably win his second major victory since taking office. The first was his win over Congress concerning his veto of the Health, Education and Welfare bill he labeled inflationary.

Carswell's only large blackmark against him (some would say being a conservative Southerner would be a blackmark itself) is his White supremacy speech made in 1948 during a Georgia election campaign.

In the speech Carswell stated he would always be governed by the "principles of White supremacy."

"Segregation of the races is proper and the only practical and correct way of life in our states. I have always so believed and shall always so act."

Such statements scare the hell out of liberals, Whites, Blacks, Chicanos and the like.

However, Carswell now says he is not a racist and has renounced the speech. Those opposed to him are using this speech as a lever to pry Nixon's second choice off of position. Those in approval of the man say he is not a racist.

Perhaps Julian Bond, the Congressman from Georgia put it best when he said Carswell's speech should not be held against him. Bond stated truly that just because the nominee said something stupid 22 years ago, it should not reflect on him now.

However, Bond questioned how can one prove Carswell meant his renunciation of the supremacy speech.

The question now is not that he said it, but does he believe the statements now.

Since this information is unattainable, he will probably be approved. Then we can wait and watch. Let us hope his decisions are in keeping with the high moral standards the court has reached in recent years.

President Hobert Burns Congratulates John McLain

Student Wins Award For Column on SDS

John B. McLain, 25-year-old senior journalism major at SJS, has been awarded first place in a national writing competition for his hard-hitting editorial questioning the activities and approach of SDS.

The editorial, which ran in the December 15 issue of the Spartan Daily, also questions the apathetic attitude of students and administration in the face of SDS disruptive tactics on the SJS campus.

McLain received an $800 scholarship and a matching grant for his school in the third monthly competition of the William Randolph Hearst Foundation's $55,200 annual Journalism Awards Program, which is held in cooperation with the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism.

He is also eligible to compete for further scholarships in a championship bracket to be held later this year.

New College Students Plan Debris Cleanup

Everybody talks about pollution, but nobody does anything about it. At least that's the way it used to be.

This Friday, however, students from the New College are making a positive move to clean up part of the environment that man has defiled. According to Joleigh Denove, coordinator of the project, the students plan to remove all the debris in one portion of Coyote Creek.

All the unnatural objects that are removed from the creek will be placed on display as an ecology exhibit at next week's Survival Faire.

To aid the students in their project, the city of San Jose has donated the use of a truck and a driver to haul the debris.

All conservation-minded students who are interested in joining the project are invited to bring a shovel and join the cleanup.

A.S. Council Meets Today

Associated Student Council will meet today at 3:30 in the council chambers on the third level of the College Union.

Items on the agenda include a number of requests for special allocations, amendments to Act 24 and dissolving the Student Advisory Board (SAB).

A $2500 request for audio visual equipment, its maintenance and miscellaneous supplies will be voted on by council.

Eight hundred dollars is being requested by Grady Robertson for expenses to co-ordinate members of student council academic committees.

KSJS is asking for $1945 for publicity, promotion, special education and minorities programming, special events, etc.

The Manpower Administration Club is requesting $1117.50 for a proposed park on the West Side. Park personnel will be college students.

The Student Mobilization Committee (SMC) is requesting $465 to send three SJS representatives to the National Student Antiwar Conference in Cleveland, Feb. 14 and 15.

Communication in Residence (CIR) is asking for $1275 to present four one-day programs this spring.

AS requests $750 for operating expenses.

Amendments to Act 24, revising the election code, will also be considered by council. The amendments will concern run-offs and candidate drop-outs.

Dissolving the Student Advisory Board (SAB) will also be on the agenda.

New Fire Alarm Boxes Protect SJS Buildings

By GEOFF EASTMAN
Daily Staff Writer

Have you ever wondered what to do in case of a fire in one of the buildings on campus?

Prior to the advent of the latest project to be initiated by the Department of Buildings and Grounds, a person in any one of 12 college buildings noticing a fire might have been stymied in his search for an alarm box. There were none.

Now that appropriations have been approved, electricians and other workmen are busily installing pull boxes in those 12 buildings so that all structures at SJS will conform to a five-year-old state law requiring all edifice's to be equipped with a fire alarm system.

"The main reason we have not conformed to the state law in the past was due to a delay in financial approval," stated Byron Bollinger, superintendent of buildings and grounds. "Now that we have the alarm system budgeted, we are conducting installation in the library, as well as education, art, industrial art, and health buildings," he added. The newer buildings were installed with fire alarm systems when they were built.

The new system will not be as complete as Bollinger had hoped. The fire department will still have to be notified even after a pull-box alarm in one of the buildings has been triggered.

The alarm boxes ring into the boiler room, enabling personnel to know the location of a fire. Then a central alarm is sent out to the fire department.

"The main purpose of the decentralized alarm system, that we are implementing in these buildings, is to provide an alarm by which students and faculty could evacuate the premises," Bollinger said.

Although there may be some disturbances to various classrooms because of the noise installing the alarms, all wires will be hidden so that walls and ceilings will not be cluttered and cause a safety, or, yes . . . a fire hazard.

If you notice a fire, pull the closest alarm. It just might be to the students' benefit to observe the locations of an alarm box in each building he enters. If the need arises, don't hesitate to use them.

Nixon Proposes $4 Billion Plan

President Nixon took his fifth major environmental action yesterday when he asked Congress to give his administration new power, jurisdiction and money to upgrade the quality of life in this country.

In his message, Nixon proposed a $4 billion program for municipal waste treatment to improve water quality, which would be backed up by stricter clean-up standards and enforcement powers.

Nixon asked for authority to be given to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to regulate the composition of combustible fuels, and ordered a 5-year research program to develop a pollution-free automobile.

The president requested federal enforcement powers against both air and water polluters with a threat of court-imposed fines of $10,000 a day against violators.

Singling out junk automobiles as one of the major solid waste problems, he ordered research to reclaim and re-use materials from discarded products or at least find new ways of disposing of solid waste more easily.

Nixon also asked for full funding in fiscal 1971 of the $327 million now available in the Land and Water Conservation Fund, and said he wants legislation to assure a reliable income for the fund.

Reagan Shocked

Governor Ronald Reagan experienced shock at the recent federal grand jury indictment of Alameda County sheriffs' deputies resulting from last year's "People's Park" rioting.

At his weekly news conference, Reagan noted that local action had already been taken against some of the deputies and he felt federal action was unwarranted.

Spikers Hit Road Again; Head for Astrodome Meet

By BILL GILBERT
Daily Sports Writer

San Jose State's well-traveled spikers will be back on the road again this weekend when Spartan coach Bud Winter takes six of his top athletes to Houston to compete in the Astrodome Federation National Indoor Championships.

The meet, which will be held Friday and Saturday, will be run on the world's largest indoor track, 330 yards around. The normal indoor track is 160 yards.

Highlighting the Spartan contingent are sprinter Kirk Clayton and pole vaulter Sam Caruthers. Clayton, who set a world record of 5.0 in the 50 yard dash last month and has had a successful indoor season, will run in the 60 and 100 yard dashes.

Caruthers has twice vaulted 17 feet this season, including a win over Olympic Gold Medalist Bob Seagren in the Examiner Meet in San Francisco last month. He performed the feat again last Thursday at Toronto. Caruthers will also run the 120 high hurdles. He has a best mark of 13.9 outdoors.

Also making the trip are long jumper Marion Anderson, with a best of 26-2 outdoors and a 24-9 indoors this year; 63-10 shot putter Richard Marks, who uncorked a throw of 61-5½ at Seattle Saturday, half miler Neville Myton, who has been running well in the 1000 yard run indoors, and high hurdler George Carty, who will double in the 60 and 120 yard high hurdles. Carty, a finalist in the Olympic Trials at South Lake Tahoe in 1968, has a top 120 mark of 13.5.

The Spartan trackmen faced the grueling test of competing on three consecutive nights last weekend. On Thursday Clayton and Caruthers traveled to Toronto for the Maple Leaf Games, on Friday 11 SJS spikers ran in the Athens Invitational in Oakland and Saturday night seven team members traveled to Seattle for the Seattle Invitational.

Thursday night, Clayton, in his challenge race with former San Jose star John Carlos, who is unbeaten indoors this year, got off to a poor start after false starting once and finished fifth with a 5.3. Carlos won the race. Caruthers won the pole vault with his second 17 foot vault of the season.

Spartan performances in the Athens meet were somewhat disappointing. Clayton coasted to an easy win in his heat of the 60 with a fast 6.1, but had to settle for third in the finals after false starting once. He clocked a 6.2, finishing behind Ron Monsegue of the Southern California Striders and Warren Edmonson of Merritt College.

Caruthers could manage only 16-0 in the pole vault and had to settle for second on number of misses while Vic Dias only went 15-0.

Myton turned on his kick on the last lap to nearly catch Matthias Michaels of Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo in the 1000, but fell short by a couple of inches at the tape. Both were timed in 2:14.6.

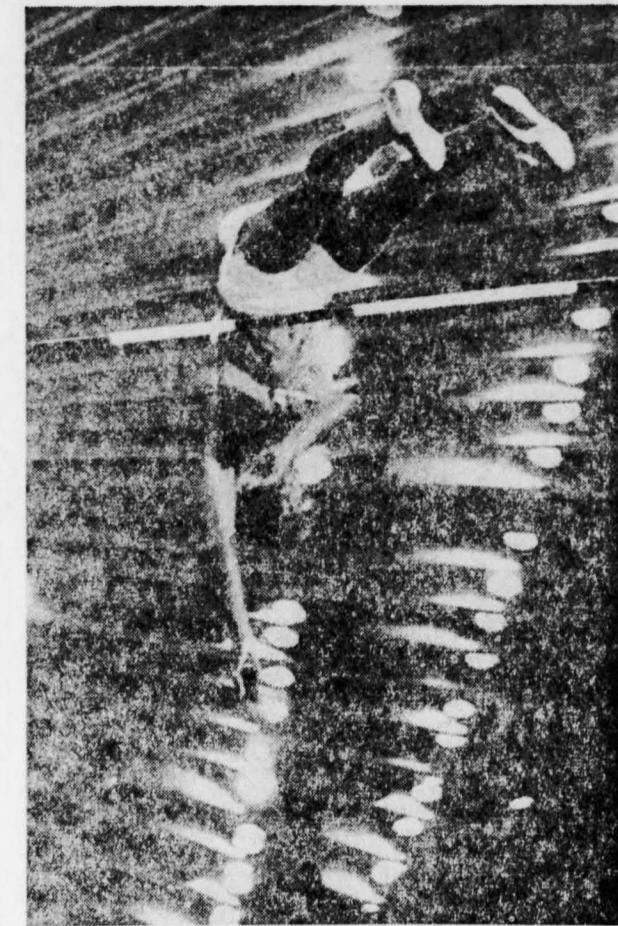

Quartermiler Elmo Dees finished a respectable third in the 500 in 59.2, finishing behind Olympian Ron Whitney and Don Webster of Cal State at Hayward. Whitney won in 58.6.

High hurdler George Carty clocked a 7.1 in the trials and a 7.2 in the finals of the 60 yard highs, finishing third behind Herm Franklin of USC and Don Parish.

Anderson leaped 24-9 in the long jump for second behind last year's junior college national champion Henry Hines, who jumped 25-7. Marks had an off night in the shot put with a fifth place putt of 58-9½.

The Spartans had a better night in Seattle, with five men placing and a handful of outstanding performances.

Clayton won the mismeasured 60 yard dash in 6.5 in a race that was actually closer to 65 yards. In doing so he beat sprinter Edsel Garrison of USC and Eddie Hart of California. Carty finished second again to Franklin with a 7.7 in the high hurdles, which were again 65 yards, while Marks turned in his best throw of the year with a 61-5½. Myton finished third with a 2:12.7 in the 1000 and Caruthers again went 16-0 for second.

UP, UP AND AWAY—Spartan co-captain Sam Caruthers sails over the bar in Friday's Athens Track Meet at Oakland's Coliseum. Sam's effort of 16 feet wasn't good enough as he finished second to Bob Fullard of the Southern California Striders. Caruthers cleared 17 feet, a career best, in his initial appearance of the season and duplicated that effort last week in winning the pole vault competition in the Maple Leaf Games.

Hoopmen Troubles Continue

SJS basketball troubles continue to linger.

The Spartan varsity is in the midst of an agonizing seven-game losing skein dating back over a month. And with Pacific Coast Athletic Association leader Long Beach State invading SJS territory Friday, the picture is less than bright.

Coach Dan Glines, trying to snap his courtmen out of their lull, has tried every conceivable solution to bring a victory to the Spartan basketballers.

Glines' latest maneuver, switching high-scoring forward Coby Dietrick to the center slot has produced encouraging results.

Dietrick's only two collegiate starts there have produced 35 points and 34 rebounds. Those latest efforts peaked Coby's career scoring total to 1,037. He needs only 14 more this weekend to become the second greatest scorer in SJS history.

The return of guards Chris Guenther and Steve McKean, shelved with ankle injuries, should also add light to the current gloomy court situation.

The Spartans, at an unbeatable 3-15 and 0-4 in PCAA action, face San Diego State on Saturday. The Aztecs were the latest of conference foes to add to SJS woes, scoring an 85-74 win in San Diego two weeks ago.

The SDS clash marked the third successive game in which Glines elected not to start Dietrick, although Coby saw all but five minutes of action, notching 16 points.

Glines first benched Dietrick and used then center Bernie Veasey only sparingly in a tough 81-79 overtime loss to Hayward State.

Following the Hayward setback, Spartan defeats continued. SJS dropped a 94-75 decision to Long Beach State although tied with the 49ers at 52 in the second half, then came the San Diego loss followed by non-conference defeats at UC Irvine and University of San Diego.

Wrestlers Challenge Tribe

The SJS sports spotlight highlights wrestling tonight when Bill Smith's aspiring Spartan grapplers resume dual meet activity in a non-conference encounter with PAC-8 foe Stanford providing the opposition.

Matches get underway at 7:30 in the SJS wrestling room.

Mentor Smith looks for his squad to give the Indians a run for their money while admitting the Palo Altans have a lot of outstanding individuals and are "a little tougher than we are."

The Spartans will be seeking their fourth win in six dual meets, having finished third (College Division) in the San Diego Naval Training Center Tournament last weekend. The San Diego tourney was unscheduled but registration forced Smith to cancel a foursome of matches against Oregon schools last week.

Spartan wins have come against Sacramento State (44-0), San Diego State (24-14) and most recently a 28-11 win registered over Cal State-Los Angeles during semester break.

SJS also dropped a 21-17 decision to UC-Santa Barbara over the break. Its other defeat was a 23-13 setback to San Francisco State in the season opener.

Freshman Tim Kerr (163) garnered a third place in the San Diego tourney and is the "most improved young wrestler" according to Smith.

Paul Hatling also turned in a fine performance for the Spartans, winning three of four matches, although he failed to win a place. Hatling, along with Terry Kerr (142) sport 5-0 dual meet records, including three and two pins respectively.

Several former and present SJS athletes will be in action Friday at 7:30 p.m. when the Peninsula Ramblers and Ponsonby of New Zealand rugby teams meet at Central Park in Santa Clara near the International Swim Center.

Spartan participants include Jim Grosso, Sam Moore, Lee Evans and Mike Ruiz. Five members of the Ponsonby squad are on the New Zealand National all-black team which is considered one of the best in the world.

Hatling's second (177), Cleve Holt's third (190) and Walt Thatcher's fourth place (167) accounted for the majority of Spartan points good for seventh place in the San Francisco State Invitational over semester vacation.

Humboldt State took the team crown and UC Davis placed eighth. SJS faces both foes Saturday in Davis.

Individual Spartan dual meet records: Holt (hvy) 4-1, Dave Smith (134) 3-1, John Jacobo (142) 20, Ray Mendiola (190) 2-2, Walt Thatcher (167) 2-2.

A Fable of Morals and the Public Taste

Officials and good citizens of smog-filled San Seymour were up-in-arms about the movie "I Am Nauseous (Puce)" being shown in their city. As custodians of public morality the county judge, D.A., and court clerk decided to view the film to determine whether it was indeed obscene.

(As the scene opens, judge and entourage approach a six-block-long line in front of the Prune Valley Theater).

Judge: What are all these people doing here? Is there a fire or something?

D.A.: They certainly couldn't be here to view this filth.

Clerk: Look! They're buying tickets!

Judge: Obviously, they're just perverts, degenerates, and slobs, not real citizens of San Seymour. Who else would pay to see this movie?

Judge attempts to cut into the line.)

Slob (standing in manure-stained overalls): Hey, Mac, no cuttin' in line!

Judge: You don't understand, my man. I'm Judge Longterm and I'm here to decide on the prurient nature of this film.

Slob (letting loose a thunderous belch): Yeah sure, and I'm Spiral Agnews. No cuttin' in line! Ya gotta wait for ya thrills just like everybody else.

Judge (aghast and flushed): Thrills! Why . . . I'm here out of judicial duty, not pleasure!

Degenerate (with a leering wink): Don't kid us, Bud, we know why ya came. You've got the seven-year-itch.

(D.A. and clerk glide His Honor into the theater. They take their seats as theater dims and the screen lights up.)

Judge: Unexpurgated, gangrene garbage!

Clerk: Blasphemous, cyclamated bile!

Usher: Wait a minute. The movie hasn't started yet. That was only the Walt Disney cartoon feature, "Clarence the Constipated Cougar."

Clerk: Oh.

D.A.: Oh.

Judge: Gosh darn it. Let's see the movie. I'm running out of pages in my Thesaurus.

(Lights dim, screen lights up and the movie begins.)

Judge: Effete, impudent snobbery!

D.A.: Despicable, decadent dysentery!

Clerk: Hot damn!

(Hours later the theater manager and usher meet.)

Usher: Well, what did the judge decide?

Manager: I don't know yet. He said it needed a thorough look, so he sat through it four times.

Usher (picking dried gum off his shoes): The next thing you know, they'll be investigating the only entertainment spot for decent folk in San Seymour.

Manager: God forbid! You don't mean . . . the . . . the Orgy House?

State Finance Director Verne Orr said both the state colleges and the University of California have agreed, on the basis of the new budget proposals to accept all qualified students, though not necessarily at campuses of their choice.

Last week in Los Angeles, Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State Colleges, said Reagan's budget proposals do "not provide for the improved quality of the academic program."

Dumke was dismayed by lack of budget funds for:

.. Expansion of the Education Opportunity Program.

.. A Board of Trustees-approved plan for year-round operation through establishment of a quarter system.

.. Faculty research.

"The California State Colleges," Dumke said, "cannot continue to offer quality education to our young people if we are unable to provide salary and fringe-benefit programs which are competitive with other colleges and universities."

The 1970-71 operational budget of SJS is up nearly $2 million, as proposed last week by Gov. Reagan, but capital outlay expenditures are expected to drop drastically.

Full-time equivalent enrollment is expected to rise from 18,200 to 19,040 in the coming year. The actual number of individual students, including part timers, will increase from 22,750 to 23,800. This will be the third largest of the 19-campus, state college system. Slightly larger will be San Diego and Long Beach State Colleges.

Reagan proposes $29,700,401 for next year's campus operations compared with $27,945,666 this year.

Capital outlay spending, however, has been limited to $339,000, compared to more than $13 million in the current budget.

New capital outlay items recommended by the governor include $150,000 for business classroom building equipment, $75,000 for corporation yard equipment; $80,000 for utilities, and $44,000 for plans to remodel the Administration Building.

According to the Reagan budget, average state support for each full-time student will be $1,494 next year. This is up from $1,468 this year, but below the statewide college average of $1,533.

Full-time equivalent enrollment for all state college campuses is expected to jump from 180,390 to 197,510 next year.

Statewide, Reagan cut back capital campus expansion and improvement projects from this year's $53.2 million to $34.7 million in 1970-71.

State Finance Director Verne Orr said both the state colleges and the University of California have agreed, on the basis of the new budget proposals to accept all qualified students, though not necessarily at campuses of their choice.
